Weather forecast for Fredericksburg and vicinity.

Probably rain Thursday.

In the past two days there has been a fall of temperature in different parts of the country from 2 degrees to 30 degrees. There were local snows in the lake regions, the extreme Northwest and some parts of the Ohio valley. Tuesday night was the coldest of the season here, the thermometer falling to 16 degrees. Yesterday snow commenced falling here about 2 o'clock and the ground was soon covered.

A short telegram in the last issue of The Free Lance told of the death of Dwight L. Moody, the noted evangelist. Mr. Moody was a great man, a great preacher, though only a layman, and had told the "old, old story" of the cross, to more people than any man who has ever walked the earth. His life was pure, his earnestness great, his faith sublime, and in works he was most abundant. Mr. Moody recently estimated that he had, in the course of his career as an evangelist, talked to no less than seven million people. These multitudes, it must be remembered, were not only in America, but also in Europe, though the bulk of them were in his "ain countree." As his saintly spirit soared aloft and passed the heavenly gates, what a chorus of rejoicing and welcome must have resounded through "the house not built with hands eternal in the heavens," and how with beatific gratitude the spirits of those who had gone before, who, through his earthly teachings, had been enabled to reach the heavenly heritage, must have joined in the loud, long acclamations of praise, and oh, what an ecstasy of bliss must have filled his enraptured soul in that great and glorious communion, and oh how, forever and forever, will he shine in the realms of the Church triumphant with those, whose seals of his ministry and the souls of his earthly hire.

The Free Lance learns upon what it believes to be absolutely unquestioned authority, that there will be at least five well defined new candidates over in the Eighth Congressional district who desire that their names shall go before the Democratic Congressional nominating convention in that district next August, that being the month the Congressional convention in that district is usually held, that every one of these five gentlemen (there are two from one county, the other three are from three other counties), were Martin men in the recent United States Senatorial fight and that each one relies upon this fact to "help" him.

It is not believed that either at heart expects to win as against Rixey this time, because Rixey, all admit, has made a good, faithful, earnest working Congressman, always alive to the needs of his people collectively and individually, and because no one really wishes or personally believes that the district will set aside the rule of allowing each representative three terms, but with each it is an active skirmish for such a position as will make it easy for the one seeming to show the most strength to have a better time of it, when the Democratic nomination is made in that district in 1902.

Two boats a day from the Rappahannock to Baltimore have been found necessary to carry away the immense freight of this week. On Tuesday there were shipped from one wharf (Wheatons) 3,000 gallons of shocked oysters, and it is altogether reasonable to estimate that 10,000 gallons in all were shipped from the Rappahannock that day, while 2,000 would probably be a safe estimate of the barrels stock shipped the same day. All this in one day. Let the railroad people cogitate on that showing.—Southside Sentinel.

The clipping from our Urbans exchange shows the valuable trade of the Rappahannock, which Baltimore gets, and which Fredericksburg watches jealously and allows to go away from her, without one single effort to prevent it.

Army officers who have recently returned from Manila declare that General Otis' policy in the Philippines is a dismal failure, and that the Filipinos will not be pacified as long as he is retained in command.

The currency bill, as it passed the U. S. House of Representatives, if The Free Lance is not mistaken, contained a provision for national banks in towns of 2,000 population or less, with a capital of $25,000. The minimum under the present law for the establishment of a national bank is $50,000. This provision ought to be modified and the provision for national banks, with a capital of $25,000, ought to be based, not upon population, but upon wealth, that is the population of the town should not govern in the matter, but the total assessments should, i. e. the total valuation real and personal as listed for taxation, and The Free Lance believes that national banks with a capital of $25,000 should be authorized in towns with, say, a total valuation for purposes of assessment for taxation of two millions or less. Our attention has been drawn to this matter by reading the last published statements of the banks in Leesburg, Va., and this place (Fredericksburg, Va.).

The Fredericksburg Banks have a capital, say, of $150,000. Their deposits are, say, $300,337.22. Fredericksburg, by the census of 1890, had a population of 4,528. The last statement of the Leesburg banks shows capital of $150,000 and deposits of $184,915.60. Leesburg, by the census of 1890, had a population of only 1,650 people, being 75 less than it had in 1880, whilst Fredericksburg in 1890 had a population of 4,528, or 482 less than it had in 1880.

Leesburg, of course, does business for the wealthy county of Loudoun, one of the finest in the State, and its banks reflect the county's great wealth, whilst Fredericksburg is not set in such a favored region. But the comparison shows what The Free Lance undertook to establish, viz: That in providing for national banks of $25,000 capital, Congress should establish the rule of allowing them not according to numbers, but rather according to wealth as shown by the official assessments and to allow such banks in towns with assessments for taxation of two millions of dollars or less would be about the right thing to do. Capitalists in purchasing city bonds are always more influenced by taxable values than population, and Congress should follow a like rule.

It is wired from Richmond that it is the intention of the Legislature to take from Gov. Tyler the appointment of Commissioner of Agriculture. The Free Lance believes that this will not be done and for the reasons:

- I. That it will seem too much like a reversion towards Gov. Tyler because he became a candidate for U. S. Senate.
- II. And as a corollary to this, that it is too small a business for Senator Martin to permit to be done.
- III. The Free Lance did not advocate Koiner's appointment, desiring the retention of Whitehead, but—
- IV. As a corollary to this, Koiner is in and seems earnestly at work and to be running the office to the satisfaction of the people of the State, and especially of the farmers.

V. Gov. Tyler is an agriculturist, and it will never do to take away from an agricultural Governor, the appointment of the Commissioner of Agriculture.

VI. Back of this supposed intention lays, no doubt, the desire of several gentlemen, Martin men, of course, to get the job. All can't get it, and the disappointed men would be mad and the other fellow would be vain enough to think he got the place on merit and not because of his "pull."

The Transvaal and Silver.

"If we in the Transvaal continue for two or three months longer, the cause of silver will have been won," said former United States Senator Dubois of Idaho, one of the silver Republicans leaders in Chicago last week. "The short time it has been in progress," continued Mr. Dubois, "has furnished proof of the contentions of the friends of silver that there is not enough gold in the world to form the basis of the world's money, and if the war continues the length of time I have indicated, the truth of this will have become too apparent for successful contravention. "I believe the Transvaal war will be a mighty influence in the campaign of next year in this country, and that the object lesson will convince the people of this country that it is not safe to place on gold the entire burden of the monetary volume of the world. "It may be interesting to observe that the panic in New York was simultaneous with the passage of the House gold standard bill. Now, if a panic had followed the passage of a silver free coinage bill, the wise men and the press of the land would have attributed it to the passage of the bill."

Louis's Republican Chairman.
The Louisa News of last Friday says: "Yesterday evening in the town of Louisa the Republican executive committee met to consider charges preferred against Robert M. Bagby, chairman. There was a full attendance of the committee. Mr. W. W. Wale led the fight against Mr. Bagby and things got hot. Young Wale was very much surprised at the vote, 7 to 5, in favor of retaining Mr. Bagby as chairman. From a copy of the charges heretofore furnished and published, we fully expected to see Bagby's head taken off. But Republicans are the most cohesive people on earth, you know. Right or wrong, they seem to think it is a sacred duty to stand by the G. O. P."

The following are announced as having passed the medical examining board, at the fall meeting at Lynchburg, November 27-30, 1899: E. O. S. Tullifore, Ware Neck, Va.; O. P. Hutcheson, Aldie, Va.; William R. Gwathney, School, Va.

CHRISTMAS.
Church Services and Sunday School Celebrations.
Services were held at 11 a. m. Christmas morning at St. George's and Trinity Episcopal Churches and at St. Mary's Catholic Church at 7, 7:30 and 11 o'clock. They were largely attended, the music beautifully rendered and the decorations very elaborate. The sermons were preached at St. George's by the rector, Rev. W. D. Smith, at Trinity by the rector, W. L. Keane, and at the Catholic Church by Father D. F. Coleman.

Below are the programs of the celebrations at the different Sunday Schools:

ST. GEORGE'S.
The Sunday school of St. George's church had its annual Xmas celebration Saturday evening, December 23d.

To the procession, "O Come, All Ye Faithful," they marched from the lecture room into the church, where the service was held. Bright Xmas carols were sung and prizes distributed to the faithful scholars for merit and regular attendance. The superintendent made an address appropriate to Xmas.

At the close of the service the school, accompanied by friends, returned to the lecture room, where candy, oranges, &c., were distributed generally. There was a new feature this year in the way of a lively Santa Claus. A fire place and chimney had been constructed, flanked by Xmas trees, and around and on these the good things had been arranged.

When the school was settled, the jingling of sleigh bells announced that old Santa Claus had concluded to be present to honor the occasion, and to pay his respects to Superintendent M. C. Hall, who had so faithfully served the school for 35 years.

Santa was an admirable subject, being represented by a rosy-faced, even tempered gentleman of the congregation. He came out of nowhere, and gave much joy to the younger portion of the school. At the end of the entertainment he disappeared through a window, much to the wonder of the infant minds.

Thus closed another Sunday school celebration, and all went home with the memory of the happy event as an inspiration for faithfulness in the future.

Class prizes were awarded as follows: Edie Smith, Nannie Mills, Delavan Montague, Richard Bode, Gussie Way, Charles Beale, Lillian Young, Bertice Kenningham, Mamie Amler, Ada Brown, Lena Harrison, Lowell Bradbury, Mary Pitts, Spotswood Hall, Ollie Brown, Eugene Bode, Martha Pitts, George Goldman, Jennie Goldman, Emmett Hicks, Clarke Brooke, Archie Smith, Frank Beale, Elsie Lewis, Freda Bode.

Hymn prizes—Mary Smith, Edie Smith, Estelle Ballard, Sarah Pitts, Nannie Mills, Emma Woodell, Abie Jones, Flora Mason, Mary Lindsay, Ada Brown, Eleanor Glides, Adelaide Glides, Ollie Brown, Olivia Lindsay, Agnes Smith, Elsie Lewis, Ruth Lindsay, Margaret Lindsay, Frank Beale, S. Sydney Bradford, Jr.

For bringing in new scholars—John Hunter.

PRESBYTERIAN.

The Presbyterian Sunday school always has a good entertainment, and the one this year was no exception. It occurred at 10 o'clock Christmas morning in the chapel, which was prettily decorated with wreaths of evergreen, and beneath an evergreen arbor was stored an abundance of good things, that made glad the hearts of the children.

The exercises began with organ voluntary and choir anthem, "Rejoice, the Lord is King." Miss Mamie Beale at the organ. The remainder of the program was as follows:

Carol, "Message of the Bells."
Invocation by Rev. A. H. Kippam.
Coral, "Sing Alleluia."

Recitation of the Creed and Lord's prayer.

The awards were then made in short and appropriate speeches by Rev. Mr. Kippam to Jennie Somerville for perfect recitation of the Child's Catechism and to Annie White for Shorter Catechism. Helen Roland and Annie White received the prizes for bringing in scholars. Those receiving honorable mention for regular attendance were the faithful superintendent of the school, J. W. Adams, and teachers, Miss Annie Myer and Mr. McLee Lathram, who were present every Sunday. Those who attended 50 Sundays—Mr. S. G. Howison and Miss Julia Buchanan. Scholars who attended every Sunday—Missie Schepmans and Flossie Smith; 51 Sundays, Ira Baker and Mary Smith; 50 Sundays, Brodie White.

Carol, "Message of the Bells."
Responsive reading, under the leadership of Assistant Superintendent S. G. Howison.
Coral, "Welcome, Happy Christmas."
Offering to the poor—money collection and articles for the comfort of the needy—during which the choir of forty, "The Angels' Message," was sung.

Carol, "Ring Out Ye Merry Bells."
Distribution of confections, etc., by Santa Claus, who came, according to modern progress, in response to a telephone message, and greatly pleased the little ones by his appearance and the tidings he brought of kindly consideration for their happiness and enjoyment in supplying their wants from his never failing storehouse.

METHODIST.

The celebration of this school, E. W. Stearns, Superintendent, took place on Christmas morning at 10:30 o'clock. As usual the exercises were very entertaining and a large crowd was present. The program is as follows:

Hon. H. F. Orismond was presented with a handsome reclining chair by Mr. S. E. Eastburn in behalf of his class. Mr. Orismond made an appropriate response.

The bags of candy were then distributed to all present. This school numbers nearly 700 scholars, eighty-six of whom received prizes.

CHRISTIAN.

The usual entertainment at this church had to be dispensed with owing to so much of the year being occupied in remodeling the building. However, the children and a number of their friends assembled at the church Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock and spent a very pleasant time. A number of appropriate songs were sung, and Mr. R. B. McCalley made a brief talk, in which he spoke of the work the past year and of the plans for the coming year, and invited all who desired to help in building up and sustaining the Sunday school case at this church to meet there at 10 o'clock the 1st Sunday morning in January. Bags of good things were then given the children, and they returned to their homes with pleasant memories of the occasion.
